SAINT-GOBAIN

the edge of tomorrow

SAINT-GOBAIN

We are here for you – and offer much more than just the best products.

Swisspacer has a unique service offering for its direct customers – the insulating glass unit manufacturers and window makers. From the very first question to the extensive technical after-sales services, we offer detailed advice, training and support through our experienced specialists.

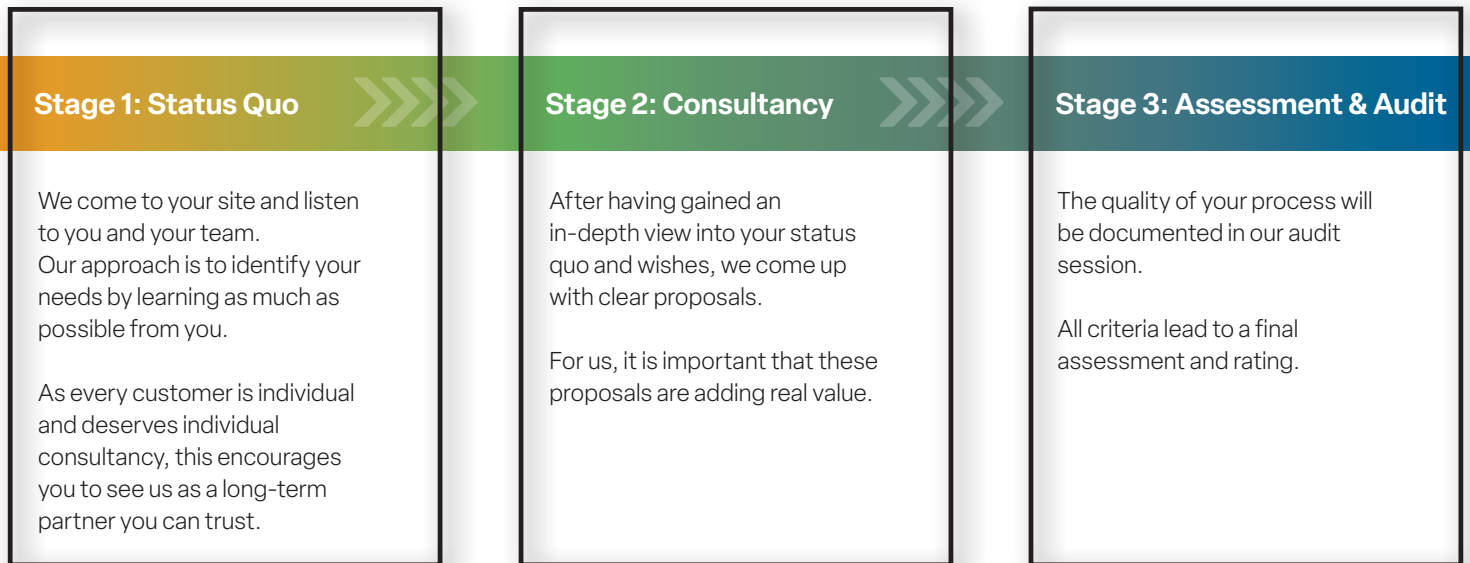

We react quickly and flexibly to our customers' individual requirements and impulses to ensure that the production process with Swisspacer also runs smoothly.

Whether it's about the commissioning of machines that process our spacer bars, about a product change or about system certifications – we keep a constant eye on quality and production control, help you to optimise processes and together eliminate any “stumbling blocks” that may arise.

How our Service Hub works

A few steps to take production quality to the next level.

Consultancy topics

Frame processing methods – manual, welding, hot bending

- Method explanations
- Comprehensive review of frame processing quality and efficiency
- A method comparison (costs, efficiency, advantages and disadvantages)
- Recommendations for your specific application

Online support:

- “How to...” videos
- Guidelines
- Certificates and Datasheets
- Available Webinars

IGU processing: A guide to establish an effective production process

- Desiccant filling
- Butyl application and pressing
- Secondary sealant

Certification

The official certificate will be handed over and is a proof of your production excellence.

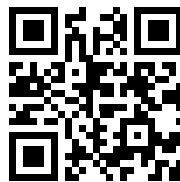

The quality label can be used in your marketing activities showing your customers your care for the highest quality and standards.

We support you!
